

Dear FCC Staff and Commissioners,

The single one greatest boost to localism would be the inclusion of class A stations in the must carry requirements for satellite and cable in their respective DMAs. Class A stations carry many news and interview programs of local people providing the home grown programming not found on major networks. By providing access to class A on cable and satellite in the DMA would provide a major boost to these stations and get broadcasting back to its core values and local focus.

Roger Doering, Engineer